News from Enrollment Services

Advising Appointments for Questions on Financial Aid

ATSU Enrollment Services offers advising appointments for students with questions regarding their financial aid. Topics that our advising team can address with include:

- General financial aid questions
- Scholarships
- Additional loan eligibility questions
- Loan repayment options
- How enrollment changes affect your financial aid
- Non-Title IV funding options

There is no such thing as a bad question when it comes to financial aid. If you're thinking it, there are probably others thinking it too. Our team is happy to sit down and go over any and all questions, so that you gain the knowledge that you need, and leave with confidence. You can reach Dan or Deborah by booking an appointment through this website:

<https://enrollment-services.youcanbook.me/>

Our financial aid advising team looks forward to helping you!

University Writing Center

University Writing Center Services

Welcome back to Spring Block 1! If you have never worked with the University Writing Center before, or if you've heard of us but aren't quite sure what we do, here's a refresher.

The UWC offers:

- Document review (papers, main discussion posts, case studies)
- English-as-a-second language writing assistance
- Individual chapter review of dissertations and DRPs
- Zoom appointments

Asynchronous document review: To request a review, create a new email for each submission addressed to writingcenter@atsu.edu. In the body of the email, let us know your program name and the citation style (APA or AMA) you are using. You can also provide special instructions regarding assignment type or areas of concern. If English is your second or additional language and you would prefer a review by an ESL expert, type ATTN: ESL in the subject line of the email. Finally, attach your file (.doc or .docx only, please—we cannot review PDFs, .pages, Google Docs links, or nonstandard file types).

Hours: The UWC accepts papers from 12 AM Central Time on Mondays through 7:59 PM Central Time on Saturdays. The UWC will not review papers submitted from 8 PM Saturday through 11:59 PM Sunday, but you can resubmit when the center reopens.

Zoom appointments: The UWC offers online one-to-one sessions via Zoom to all currently enrolled ATSU students. To meet with a writing coach, go to our scheduling page, select an appointment time from the calendar, and fill in the booking form. You will receive a link to our Zoom room in a confirmation email and a reminder message two hours before your selected appointment.

CGHS DAISY Award

Nominations Due April 11, 2025

We are excited to announce that A.T. Still University-College of Graduate Health Studies (ATSU-CGHS) is a DAISY Award partner and will recognize a nominated nurse educator for their inspirational influence. ATSU-CGHS nursing faculty members advance the skills of graduate students and keep clinicians updated on evidence-based practice. The DAISY Nurse Educator Award is merit-based and honors excellent teaching skills and leadership and a commitment to instilling strong patient care and compassion in their students. Please nominate an ATSU-CGHS Nursing Department faculty member by completing the nomination form by April 11, 2025. More details can be found in the form. Please direct questions to Aesha Turner (aturner@atsu.edu).

Scan this QR code to access the DAISY nomination form.

CGHS Student, Alumni, Faculty, and Staff News

Congratulations to Doctor of Health Sciences student Benin Dakar for completing the Safe Zone for All Training! The purpose of the Safe Zone for All is to create beacons, Safe Zone for

All Allies, whose roles are to be visible ambassadors, so that we ensure the campus climate feels safe, receptive, and accepting to community members regardless of any human condition, characteristic, or circumstance that they may have. We know you'll be a wonderful ally, Beni! Thank you for all you do!

Kudos to Dr. Daryl Traylor, Ph.D., M.S., M.P.H., Public Health faculty member, for completing the Introduction to Evidence-Based Teaching offered by ATSU's Teaching and Learning Center. Thank you for your dedication to your work, Dr. Traylor!

Alumni Spotlight

Taryn Talbott, Ed.D.

Dr. Taryn Talbott serves as Chief of Instructional Systems at The Civil Engineer School, Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. Her primary responsibilities are to ensure the quality of course design, delivery, new instructor onboarding, and professional development for all faculty.

Before entering public service in her current position, Dr. Talbott taught at a private college for 18 years in various disciplines related to the medical field and faculty development. As a full professor Dr. Talbott's roles consisted of program director, instructional design, professional development facilitator for all faculty, and onboarding new instructors. Dr. Talbott is a graduate of the CGHS Doctor of Education in Health Professions Education program. Thanks for letting us feature you, Dr. Talbott, and congratulations on all your accomplishments!

Other News, Events, and Opportunities

Public Health Post Student Essay Contest

In an era marked by increasingly divisive rhetoric, it can feel futile to engage in difficult conversations. However, fostering dialogue—whether through civil debate, open discussion, or community-based action—remains a critical component of improving population health. In your essay, discuss why it is important to continue engaging in challenging conversations. How does this act contribute to better public health outcomes for individuals, communities, and society as a whole? Use specific examples or research to support your arguments. (800 word maximum)

To apply, fill out the questions below and upload your essay. All essays should keep a domestic focus, and all references should be embedded as hyperlinks, not as a separate bibliography. The contest is open to 2024-25 undergraduate, masters, and doctoral students in any program of study.

The winner will receive $250, and have their essay published in Public Health Post, after editorial review.

Public Health Post is a daily population health magazine written by public health students and practitioners, and edited by experts. Our mission is to spotlight critical intersections in public health and social justice to advance conversations about health in communities across the United States. Enter the contest here.

Questions? Email Mallory Bersi, managing editor, at mbersi@bu.edu. Application deadline: midnight, Friday, January 31.
